Well, the year has ended and what a year it was. Another busy year, but not as busy as the year before. This is partly due to that a care facility in one of the towns closes and that equated to about a 100 calls a year for us. But overall, we are still busy, with more people moving to the three towns I am sure that we will continue to remain busy. We also missed or had fewer calls that we had to have other services handle for us as well. This is a good thing as we are making sure that when our citizens are calling 911, they are getting our rescue with our people. As always, I look forward to what this year brings.
