It has been another steady month for us, we now have the second rescue in service and run a few calls, to the point that the few second calls that we had were handle by our crew and rescue not relying on outside agency for help. In fact, we were able to help our neighbors out. Call volume is right on pace where it should be, and summertime is just around the corner which means we will start to have more calls. As always, we love when members of the community stop in to see us. It is a great chance to show off the equipment and meet the people that we serve.
